

6516206534.txt

I am a disabled Vietnam veteran and I was given an XM radio for Christmas by my son. I enjoy the radio at home and have used it extensively while traveling. I have found the weather and traffic reports to be easy to use and essential to expedite my travels by minimizing the time spent in the car. If over the air broadcasters were progressive, they would offer similar services rather than trying to stifle competition from a new entrant into the market. Thanks for your time.